

Division of Humanities

Overview

The Division of Humanities offers a wide array of courses and programs in the traditional liberal arts disciplines of Classical Studies, Languages, Literature, Philosophy, History and Religion; interdisciplinary programs in Liberal Arts and in Arts Administration; as well as programs (involving both historical and practical study) in the three creative arts of Drama, Fine Arts and Music.

Degrees and Programs

Detailed descriptions of the degrees and programs offered are found under the respective Departmental sections of this calendar. The Division of Humanities offers a wide range of Major programs leading to a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.). In addition, the Departments offer Honours programs directed towards students that wish to attain higher levels of specialization in their discipline and that intend to pursue graduate studies. In addition, several departments offer Minor programs that can be added to one's Honours/Major program and some departments may offer certificate programs.

Divisional Major

The Division offers an entry level program for a limited number of students, allowing them to register as Divisional Majors (rather than into a specific program) for a maximum of two semesters. After two semesters of full-time study are completed, students must enrol into a specific program (Major). Students who are not accepted into one of the regular programs must consult with the Dean of Arts and Science to determine an academic plan.

Arts & Science and Divisional Requirements

In order to encourage students enrolled in the Division of Humanities to broaden the scope of their education, all majors and honours must complete at least three credits in each of the four categories listed below. While these requirements will not in themselves ensure against excessive specialization, it is hoped that they will lead students to find and pursue various areas of interest.

- Category I: Languages and Literature, including Greek, Latin, English and French, with the exception of "101" courses in Modern Languages; 100-level courses in English as a Second Language. CLA 112 and 113 will also be considered as Category I courses.
- Category II: Drama, Fine Arts and Music
- Category III: Classics (including Latin and Greek), History, Liberal Arts, Philosophy and Religion
- Category IV: 3 credits in the Division of Natural Science and Mathematics

No courses offered by the department in which the student is doing an honours or major may count towards fulfilling these requirements. Students with program combinations which require more than 72 credits are exempt from these requirements.

Departmental Honours Programs

Students must normally obtain a 70% average, as calculated from the best 60 credits in the Honours discipline (including cognates), in order to graduate with an Honours degree in any Humanities Program. (See under individual departments for particular honours requirements.)

Transfers from Other Programs

Students who wish to transfer from other departments or programs in the University into a program in the Division of Humanities must have maintained a cumulative average of 60% on all courses taken.

Graduation "with Distinction"

The notation "with Distinction" will appear on the transcript of students who graduate with a cumulative average of 80% or more. It is only available for first degree students.

Majors – School of Education and Humanities

Programs

Students in the School of Education Secondary Education Program must register as Double Majors - in Secondary Education and in an area of specialization in another division. In the Division of Humanities areas of specialization include Drama, English, Fine Arts, French, History, Music, and Spanish. Specific courses and program requirements for these areas of specialization are listed in the Academic Calendar under "School of Education". All questions concerning courses and requirements should be referred to the Dean of the School of Education.

Divisional Course

ILT 102 Information Retrieval and Evaluation Skills for the Humanities (Lab)

1-0-1

The objective of this laboratory course is to introduce students to the skills necessary to effectively complete their research assignments, including the correct use of library resources, such as the online catalogue, periodical indexes and other relevant databases. Other areas of study include the identification of key terms for effective searching, productive use of the internet, and the critical evaluation of retrieved resources. Academic integrity, plagiarism, and the correct citation of print and online sources are also covered. Taught in conjunction with a research-based course, the specific resources relevant to research in the Humanities are introduced, and the students retrieve the material necessary to complete the essays for their particular course. The course is taught in the library's electronic classroom, and each week the students are given the opportunity for practical experience. To see how ILT 102 is currently linked to your program, check requirements under various departments in the Humanities (e.g., required for Modern Languages and History). The course is open to all students, regardless of program.

Art History

Faculty

Claude Lacroix,

B.F.A (Ottawa), M.A. (Montreal), Ph.D.
(École des hautes études en sciences sociales);
Associate Professor, Chair of the Fine Arts
History and Theory Program

Program Overview

We live in a world defined by images. Art History helps us to understand our visual world and to probe the complexities of images, objects, and artifacts found in art and culture. Through the methods and concepts of art history, students learn the 'visual' language of images as they acquire knowledge and understanding of all forms of visual arts ranging from earliest cave paintings to latest new media installations, from monumental to miniature.

Using diverse approaches and theories, art is critically analyzed in the larger social, cultural, economic, institutional, and ideological context of its production, display, and reception. As students engage with works of art and key texts in art history, theory, and criticism, they develop visual as well as verbal and written literacy. Art History fosters creative and critical thinking, inquiry, analysis, and effective communication skills.

In its cross-disciplinary reach, Art History is a unique and wide-ranging discipline that encompasses aspects of history, philosophy, religion, psychology, sociology, gender studies, and cultural studies. Cognate courses with the department of Classical Studies and cross-listed courses with the departments Sociology and History are offered to broaden the students' conceptual horizons.

While our program is primarily designed to meet the needs of Fine Arts students in Art History and Studio, we welcome students from all disciplines to the many courses that do not have prerequisites. Some of these courses are particularly appealing to students in Cultural Studies and New Media, Popular Culture, Religion, and Public History.

Programs and Requirements

The Art History Program offers Minor, Major and Honours Programs:

Art History Credits (FIH): Students can choose to focus on period-based, thematic or theory-based courses in art history.

Studio Credits (FIS): According to their personal interest, students can opt for a broad experience in studio by taking one of each of the foundation-level courses (drawing, painting, printmaking, photography, and sculpture) or a more specialized approach by focusing on one medium from level I through IV.

List of Courses

Introduction Courses (100-level courses)

NB: FIH 100 and FIH 102 requirements are offered every year.

FIH 100 The Art of Viewing: Introduction to Art History 3-3-0

This course is for any student interested in looking at, thinking about, and understanding works of art and visual media in general. We look at various mediums, ranging from painting and sculpture to video, performance, and Net art. We think about world art in relationship to Western thought and culture, the canon of traditional art history that has shaped our perception, and explore alternative histories of art. We reflect on the circulation, transmission, and display of art through private and public patronage, collections, and exhibitions. We consider the social and material conditions of viewing, and how mediums and social determination condition visual understanding. Finally, we seek to understand the possible content or meaning of art through different methods of interpretation. Overall, the course aims to provide students with the visual, verbal, and conceptual skills fundamental to the description, appreciation, analysis, and criticism of the visual media.

FIH 101 Survey of Western Art I: Prehistory to Medieval 3-3-0

Introduction to concepts and methods of art history. Survey of the visual arts from the Paleolithic Era through the Middle Ages.

FIH 102 Survey of Western Art II: Renaissance to Neoclassicism 3-3-0

This course explores the classical tradition and its developments in painting, sculpture and architecture from the co-called rebirth of Greco-Roman Antiquity in the early 15th century to the revival of classicism in the mid-18th century. Religious and secular key works from the Renaissance, Mannerism, Baroque, Rococo and Neoclassicism are studied in the changing social, cultural and political contexts of their production, such as humanism, the Reformation and Counter-Reformation, the academy, absolute monarchies, and the Enlightenment.

Intermediate Period-Based Courses (200-level courses)

FIH 219 Neoclassicism to Post-Impressionism 3-3-0

This course examines major developments in painting, sculpture and photography. Neoclassicism, Romanticism, Orientalism, Realism, Impressionism, Post-Impressionism and Symbolism are considered within the broad cultural context of their production, display and reception. The effects of the tumultuous political circumstances of social unrest and the Industrial Revolution will be observed from the mid-19th to the mid-19th century, when art emerged as a politically-engaged, publicly-oriented force, until the end of the century, when artists retreated to a private, subjective realm.

FIH 220 Twentieth-Century Art to the Sixties 3-3-0

Western art from Expressionism to Abstract Expressionism. Major European movements (such as Cubism, Futurism, Dada, Surrealism, Constructivism) and American ones (from the Ashcan School to the New York School) will be studied. Topics include the paradigms of figuration and abstraction, innovations such as collage and photomontage, the contribution of literary movements, appropriations from non-Western cultures, and the influences of Freudian and Jungian theories, socialist ideas, the Russian Revolution, totalitarian regimes, and two World Wars on artists.

Prerequisite: FIH 100 or FIH 102 or consent of instructor

FIH 221 Art Since the 1960s 3-3-0

The international art scene from the 1960s to today. Topics include Pop art, French Nouveau Réalisme, Minimal art, Italian Arte Povera, Conceptual Art and the International Fluxus movement from the sixties; the pluralistic seventies – when performance, video, Body Art, Land art, installation and Feminist art seemed to proclaim the ‘death’ of painting; the drastic return of painting by the eighties (with Neo Expressionism, Bad Painting, Graffiti art, etc.), and some of the challenges linked to the globalization of art to this day.

Prerequisite: FIH 100 or FIH 102 or consent of instructor

Intermediate Thematic Courses (200-level courses)

FIH 225 Special Topic in Canadian Art 3-3-0

This course deals with aspects, issues or themes in Canadian art ranging from the colonial times to the present. Possible topics include the art of the First Nations, the legacy of the early French and English settlers, national identity and cultural diversity, or recent developments in the visual arts of Canada.

FIH 230 History and Theories of Photography 3-3-0

An exploration of the changing nature of photographic thinking and practice from early 19th century experiments to present day digital and post-photography. Different visions and modes of representation are addressed, such as photographic 'truth', photography as art, and photography as a means of mass communication (i.e. photojournalism, advertising, fashion and celebrities photographs, propaganda, etc.). In light of its multiple functions in art and culture, the photographic image is studied as part of a larger social, economic, institutional and ideological frame.

FIH 240 Art, Popular and Mass Culture 3-3-0

A historical and theoretical exploration of the relationships between the 'high' and 'low' arts since Antiquity. Walter Benjamin saw traditional fine arts having an aura – a quality of being distant and unapproachable –, while reproducible works (i.e. photography, film, etc.) do not: they have to do with the here and now, which makes them popular. While addressing topics such as the Olympics, the Roman arenas, the printing press' impact on the diffusion of ideas and literature, the effects of photography and mass media, this course examines the continuous reconfiguration in the definitions and boundaries between fine arts, popular and mass culture in light of social history, philosophy, psychology, and visual and cultural studies.

FIH 246 Public Art and Monuments 3-3-0

An exploration of art made for public spaces and public viewing taking into consideration aspects such as site, natural environment or urban settings, commemoration and politics, the public sphere and the audience.

FIH 260 Art and Nature: From Landscape to Environmental and Ecological Art 3-3-0

This course analyses how the relationship between art and nature has been constructed through aesthetic and symbolic representations as diverse as that of the mystic Garden of Eden, landscape painting since the Renaissance, the sublime in nature, French and English gardens, and urban parks, such as Central Park. It also examines the direct involvement with nature in Earthworks and Land Art since the late 1960s and, as artists became conscious of environmental issues in the eighties, in Environmental Art, Ecological Art, and art interventions within ecosystems.

FIH 290 Current Topics in Art History 3-3-0

This course explores issues of current importance in the practice and interpretation of art. Such as: Art and Technology; Philosophy and Criticism of Art; Women and Art; Gender Issues in the Visual Arts; and Art and Politics. Specific topic to be posted in advance of registration.

Advanced Courses (300-level courses)

FIH 314 Colonial and Postcolonial Issues in the Visual Arts 3-3-0

This course addresses colonial and postcolonial experiences of art. It examines topics such as the representation of the exotic 'other', the construction of the colonial subject, the ideology of the colonizer, the Eurocentric gaze, racism, the impact on modern art of primitivism, ethnographic museums, and World Fairs, and ambivalent notions of the 'primitive'. In conjunction with multiculturalism, identity politics, and globalization, the course also explores the place of non Western art in the international scene.

Prerequisite: FIH 100, FIH 102, and two FIH 200-level courses

FIH 318 Current Art Practices and Production 3-3-0

This course proposes a critical investigation of ongoing movements and tendencies in the visual arts within their socio-economic context and political history. Contemporary arts being concomitant with currently unfolding societies, they will be addressed in a climate of historical immediacy. Hence, this course takes on a theoretical approach to topics pertaining to contemporary conditions of art production and practice.

Prerequisite: FIH 100, FIH 102, and two FIH 200-level courses

FIH 320 Special Topic in Art History and Theory 3-3-0

LIB 213 The Use and Abuse of Beauty 3-3-0
French writer Stendhal said in the 19th century that “beauty is the promise of happiness” and, upon seeing the beauty of Florence, he wondrously proclaimed, “I was in a sort of ecstasy... absorbed in the contemplation of sublime beauty ... Everything spoke so vividly to my soul.” Yet only decades later his compatriot, poet Arthur Rimbaud, claimed that he wanted to “abuse” beauty, for he found her “bitter.” Dadaist and surrealist artist Tristan Tzara went even further, “I have a mad and starry desire to assassinate beauty...” Does Tzara signal not only a dramatic change in Western art, but the claim that all forms of harmony and beauty, including the personal and the political, are conservative. Or is the beautiful in some important sense still of what we might call “transcendent” importance to human life? This course will explore the fate of the beautiful, from the Greeks to 21st century life.

PHI 346 Topics in The Philosophy of Art 3-3-0
A look at some attempts by major thinkers to account for the nature of art and beauty, focusing on texts of Plato and Aristotle, Kant and Hegel, Nietzsche and Heidegger.

Arts Administration

Faculty

Jack D. Eby,
B.Mus. (Brit. Col.), M.A. (Western),
Ph.D. (King's College, London); Professor
Chair of the Program

Program Overview:

Students are admitted to a Humanities Divisional Major in Arts Administration (MAJDHA). This 75-credit interdisciplinary program combines the study of business, creative arts, and public culture and arts administration. The goal is to provide students with the skills and knowledge needed to participate in the business and organizational areas of the cultural sector. Students normally begin the program with core courses in Arts Administration, Business and one of the Arts concentrations (Drama, Fine Arts, Film Studies, Music, Public History). As they proceed through the program, they will enrol in two practicum courses: AAD 253 (Internal Practicum), where they will be placed with an on-campus organization (Centennial Theatre, Foreman Art Gallery, Musique Chez Nous, Drama department, etc.) for their first work experience; and nearer to graduation AAD 353 (External Practicum), in an off-campus cultural venue consistent with their disciplinary focus.

Students should identify which of the concentrations they wish to follow at the time of application to the program. Please consult the Chair of the Arts Administration Program for advice concerning program requirements. The two practicum courses will be arranged by the professor of the Arts Administration courses, along with representatives of the different concentrations.

Students are permitted to register in a program that combines Arts Administration and a Major in their Arts concentration (i.e. 42 or 48 credits instead of 30). Those in 120-credit degrees are strongly encouraged to do so, or to pursue a minor (24 credits) in a second Arts discipline. Concentration courses may be double-counted towards the Major.

The double-degree option is also an attractive option. For this program, a B.A. with a major in the Arts discipline is required. This option requires a full year in Arts before it can be declared.

Students following an Arts Administration program are not eligible to add a Business program.
